SCHOOL IS COOL

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 08, 2025

It's not just a place where you get to learn Einstein's Theory of Relativity. It's also a place where you can think beyond the classroom. Hence we say, SCHOOL IS COOL

ECHOES OF STRENGTH

A Therapist's Journey Through Solitude and Healing

I will tell you a story of a girl, so lonely
A therapist friend, much in need of her own therapy
In quiet moments her heart does ache
Longing for peace, a new path to take

She listens to others, their pain, their fears
While hiding her own, shedding silent tears
Her words bring healing to those in need
While her own wounds silently bleed

She is a therapist friend with a listening ear
Yet her own struggles she hides near
She's that friend who is a listener so wise
Yet within her own heart there lies a storm of cries

But still in her solitude, she finds her strength
In depths of pain, she'll go to any length
She walks through the night, both dark and bright
In search of peace, in search of light

She heals her wounds and mends her own soul
To find the missing pieces to make her whole
In darkness of her heart, where shadows dance
She walks alone, giving life a chance

This is the story of resilience and inner might
In the heart of night, where she takes flight
So, let her story be a lesson to all
That sometimes even the strongest fall
